Discussion Items

Update on Academic Freedom Language To Be Presented To Board of Trustees: Brad Johnson, Provost and Executive Vice President, presented the Student Academic Freedom Statement to be considered by the Board of Trustees (BOT) at its upcoming meeting on April 11th. The BOT took into account feedback offered by the Senate in drafting this statement. The Senate can expect to hear a report of the results of the BOT vote on the statement at the next Senate meeting.

ACC Update: Kristi Tyran, ACC Chair, provided a Quarterly Report detailing the work of the ACC. Of note, the ACC has continued to see new approaches to instruction, including entire programs with Hybrid or Online courses. The ACC reviewed over 100 Alternate Modality proposals and continued to evolve in its understanding of both the higher scrutiny of online education due to regulation and the need for better guidance to support faculty. The ACC is developing a revised Credit Hour Policy and Guidance Document for the regulatory emphasis on Regular and Substantive Interaction (RSI). The Faculty Senate can expect to see the approved ACC documents by the end of April.

Senators raised questions and concerns about the current Credit Hour Policy and RSI requirements, including regarding Western's position as a face-to-face University. Tyran clarified that new programs are reviewed and approved by their colleges according to the applicable modality policy before ACC review. Senators raised questions about the federal guidelines related to RSI. Tyran reported that the University is required to provide a clear message to students regarding the amount of work that is initiated by the instructor of a course. Tyran clarified this is separate from the definition of a contact hour. Senators expressed concern regarding the degree of detail relating to RSI that is required to be included in syllabi. Tyran reported the ACC is looking forward to receiving further information about RSI expectations from NWCCU accreditors.

Proposed Faculty Handbook Revisions - Constitution: Brandon Dupont, Senate President, reported on the Proposed Changes to Section I: Constitution of the faculty handbook. Dupont presented a summary of the changes. Senators are encouraged to review the proposed changes to prepare for voting at the next Senate meeting on April 22nd. The Senate can expect to review proposed changes to the bylaws in Spring Quarter.

Robert Squires, Vice Provost for Outreach and Continuing Education, reported that this specific third party vendor contract was terminated following the press coverage. Senators expressed questions regarding the benefit of relationships with third party vendors. Brandon Dupont, Senate President, reported that Jennifer Seltz, SOCEC Chair, has been notified of the above events and plans to address this topic at an upcoming SOCEC meeting. The Senate can expect to hear an update as to the results of this discussion at a future Senate meeting.

Senators adjourned at 5:37 p.m.
